

Reflections
By David Leach

A flock of geese glided by honking happily to each other as they floated on the unseen air trusting in its sure support.
Let me learn to lean on you O Lord.

God of all creation, I praise you for the rain falling upon the earth today. Through the unliving cycle of water, you prepare the earth in winter for the birth of life in spring. Your grace pours forth unceasing blessings, abundant as these drops of rain, upon my thirsty soul. Prepare me, like you prepare the ground today, that in due season I may burst forth in new life.

Thank you God for Judah's food dance. He moves and sways and moans as he delights in all the good things you have made and given to nourish and grow his body. May he grow someday to move and dance in delight at all the blessings of grace you give and nourish and grow his soul in your likeness.
